

My Boy Boone:

Social Media Strategy & Brand Positioning

Brand & Social Media Strategy

Brand Overview & Product Background

For dog owners who want their pets' personalities to shine, My Boy Boone is a dog apparel brand that makes dogs the center of fun, relatable, and engaging content. Through its dog hoodie product and a social media presence built around humor, real-life dog-owner experiences, and community participation, My Boy Boone aims to stand out from competitors that rely heavily on traditional product promotions. The brand makes dog apparel feel personal by celebrating the bond between dogs and their owners.

Social Media SWOT Analysis

Strengths	Weaknesses	Opportunities	Threats
Funny, relatable posts that dog owners love, plus a signature dog hoodie people connect with.	Smaller budget and relying mostly on unpaid social media posts to get seen.	Posting more trending TikToks, Reels, and pictures sent in by dog owners.	Lots of other pet brands selling dog clothes online.

Overall Social Media Strategy

Our overall social media strategy focuses on building a fun, community-driven online presence that feels like hanging out with fellow dog lovers rather than pushing a product. Instead of relying on traditional ads, we use lighthearted humor, relatable dog-parent moments, and photos submitted by our community to highlight our signature dog hoodie in real life. By keeping our content playful, warm, and interactive through polls, feature posts, and everyday dog struggles, we create an authentic brand experience that dog owners actually want to engage with and share.

Brand Positioning Statement

For dog owners who see their pets as part of the family, My Boy Boone is a dog apparel brand that celebrates the bond between dogs and their owners. Through its dog hoodie product and a social media presence centered on humor, relatable pet-owner experiences, and community participation, My Boy Boone aims to stand out from competitors that rely heavily on traditional product-focused content. The brand makes dog apparel part of a fun, personal lifestyle that dog owners can connect with and share.

SMART Campaign Goals

SMART Campaign Goals

Over a 30 day campaign, increase our overall brand awareness and visibility, and build an active and engaged community through relatable dog content and reposting user-generated content highlighting our hoodie product.

Measurable Objectives

Within 30 days, increase overall reach and impressions by 15%, and aim to increase engagements such as comments, shares, and saves by 10%. Create and post 3-5 posts a week that invite community engagement and portray humor and relatability while promoting the hoodie.

Key Performance Indicators (KPIs)

Track reach, impressions, saves, shares, and comments throughout this time, while paying attention to follower growth and continuously adapting our strategy based on high-performing posts.

How Campaign Success Will Be Measured

Success will be measured through our above stated KPIs, as well as the overall quality and quantity of our community through UGC. Compare to baseline data recorded on day 1.
